

Flu season is here.

So is your personal pharmacist.

Get your flu shot.
Ask your personal pharmacist.

What is the flu?

Seasonal influenza (flu) is a common and highly contagious respiratory infection that affects the nose, throat and lungs. Protect yourself and others by getting an annual flu shot.

Who should get the flu shot?

While it's recommended that most people get immunized*, the flu vaccine is especially recommended for people in these groups:

- People with chronic conditions
- People with morbid obesity
- People who are residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities
- People age 65 and older
- Pregnant women

Speak to your personal pharmacist
about the flu shot today.

*Speak to your pharmacist for eligibility.

The information herein is presented strictly for informational purposes only, and should not be taken as medical advice. Please contact your health care provider if you have any questions about your condition, medication, or treatment.