

Your care is at our core.

Your personal pharmacist can vaccinate
you and your family.

Ask us about our vaccination services.

Getting vaccinated is a proven way to stay protected against many illnesses. With flu season underway, it's a great opportunity to review and update your immunizations.

Who should be vaccinated?

While it's recommended that most people get immunized*, immunizations are especially recommended for people in these groups:

- People with chronic health conditions
- People who are residents of nursing homes and other chronic care facilities
- Indigenous peoples
- Pregnant women
- People age 65 and older
- Children 6 months to less than 5 years of age

Speak to your personal pharmacist about getting vaccinated today.

*Age groups that pharmacists can vaccinate vary by province. Speak to your pharmacist for eligibility. The information herein is presented strictly for informational purposes only, and should not be taken as medical advice. Please contact your health care provider if you have any questions about your condition, medication, or treatment.

